

Let Us Help You Plan Your Path Through Every Step of Your Journey...

Prostate Cancer Pathways is a dynamic educational event and webcast series from Us TOO International to help men with prostate cancer and their loved ones make informed decisions about prostate cancer. The 2019 two-event Pathways series will include panel discussions featuring medical experts and patients addressing topics that are most important to men with prostate cancer, as determined by survey results from Us TOO support group leaders. The Detroit Pathways event will be a feature presentation at the Karmanos Cancer Institute Cancer Symposium 2019!

In addition to prostate cancer, portions of the Karmanos Cancer Institute Cancer Symposium 2019 will provide information that's applicable to other cancers, including: breast, colorectal, lung, multiple myeloma, lymphoma and leukemia.

The Prostate Cancer Pathways event and webcast will feature experts on newly diagnosed, recurring/non-metastatic, and advanced prostate cancer to discuss:

- Treatment Options Including the Latest Therapies
- Genetics & Genomic Testing
- Sexual Health & Intimacy
- Erectile Dysfunction
- Incontinence
- Anxiety & Depression

With Presenting Experts:

- Zachery Roger Reichert MD, PhD - Medical Oncologist
- Shelley L. Imholte, PhD, LCSW, M.Ed. - Sexual Life Improvement
- Bahaa S. Malaeb, MD, FACS - Associate Professor, Genitourinary Trauma and Reconstructive Surgery; Medical Director, Taubman Urology Ambulatory Care Unit, University of Michigan
- Gary McClain PhD, LMHC, CEAP - Counselor

The conversation will be driven by input and questions from you and others in the prostate cancer community. And it's all free of charge!
